Researchers visiting or writing the Centre will be subject to the following guidelines regarding provision of documents:

1. Requests should be specific and use the Title/Author/Date notation used on the listing.
2. If copies of relevant documents are readily available in researchers' libraries, the Centre will refer the researcher to that source.
3. In instances where research requests are general and involve a large number of copies (50+), the Centre reserves the right to limit the copying only those documents considered to be pertinent to that research project.

The Centre will periodically update the listing with new acquisitions.

Instructions for Use

This is an inventory of documents which are available for research in the Treaties and Historical Research Centre. The nature of the items vary, from comprehensive working files to copies of judicial cases and statutes to newsclippings. In addition, there are numerous published articles and these appear in quotations on the listing. A list of the subject headings begins on page iv.

Ideally, a prospective researcher should visit the centre in person and conduct his investigations using the facilities offered by the Centre. We realize that in some instances this will be impossible; therefore, the Centre is willing to make copies of this material available by mail upon written request.

Researchers visiting or writing the Centre will be subject to the following guidelines regarding provision of documents:

1. Requests should be specific and use the Title/Author/Date* citation used on the listing.
2. If copies of relevant documents are readily available to researchers elsewhere, the Centre may refer the researcher to that source.
3. In instances where research requests are general and involve a large number of copies (50), the Centre reserves the right to select for copying only those documents considered to be pertinent to that research project.

The Centre will periodically update the listing with new acquisitions.

* In some cases the "Date" signifies the actual date of the document, while in others it will indicate when it was "prepared" or "collected".

Mode d'Emploi

Cet inventaire comprend tous les documents qu'on peut rechercher dans le Centre de Recherches Historiques et d'Etude des Traités; c'est-à-dire une vaste collection diverse: dossiers de travail de grande portée, procès juridiques, statuts et règlements choisis, faits divers. De plus, on trouvera entre guillemets dans les pages suivantes un grand nombre d'essais publiés. Pour utiliser l'inventaire, faites allusion à la table de matières aux page iv.

Idéalement, un chercheur prospectif devra aller voir en personne au Centre et faire ses investigations en utilisant nos plusieurs services. Bien entendu il n'est pas toujours possible de rendre visite au Centre; donc, nous sommes prêts à envoyer un nombre limité de photocopies par le poste.

Quant à la demande des photocopies de documents, chaque chercheur doit suivre ces instructions:

1. Pour chaque requête on doit citer Titre/Auteur/Date* ce qu'on trouve dans l'inventaire.
2. S'il serait plus facile d'obtenir certains documents autre part, le Centre fera allusion peut-être à cette source-là.
3. En principe le Centre aura droit de limiter
le nombre de photocopies à une cinquantaine.
Quand nous recevons une demande générale, le Centre réserve le droit à choisir seulement les documents que nous considérons à propos du projet de recherche.

De temps en temps le Centre ajoutera de nouvelles acquisitions à l'inventaire.

---

* Quelquefois la "Date" veut dire la date effective du document, mais plusieurs fois elle n'indique que la date ce qu'on a préparé le dossier ou rassemblé les documents.
